

1 Loan Solutions placed me in an impossible situation as they sued me based on a promissory
2 note, even though they could not provide me with the promissory note.

3 20. In seeking counsel to determine my rights, I had several out-of-pocket expenses such as 4 parking and gas, which I estimate to total $19.50.

5 21. I also sent my request for information to Student Loan Solutions (through its attorney) via 6 certified mail, to make sure that it was received. I paid $6.95 to send it that way.

7 22. During this case, I was shown documents provided by Student Loan Solutions as part of 8 the exchange of information in this case. I now realize that the company that I made 9 payments to in 2016 claims they were collecting on the same debt in this case.

10 23. In hindsight, I never should have paid Williams and Fudge any money. I feel a bit
11 embarrassed for having paid them, but I was scared by their threats and was busy focusing 12 on my new career as a teacher. It was probably naïve of me to simply pay because I was 13 told to pay, but I am unfamiliar with the legal system and it was easier to just pay $50 per 14 month to not have to deal with the problem and their threats. I now regret making those 15 payments because I fear that Student Loan Solutions will try to use my naivete against me
16 in this case.

17 I DECLARE UNDER PENALTY OF PERJURY UNDER THE LAWS OF THE UNITED 18 STATES AND THE STATE OF WASHINGTON THAT THE FOREGOING IS TRUE AND 19 CORRECT.
